DRESSING A HAND OF GREAT IMPORTANCE

This Member Is Full of Personality and Shoud Be

Among the numerous small items which make up the sum total of a good or bad effect, so far as matters of dress are concerned, there is one in particular that many women entirely overlook; that is, the "style" of their hands.

Now, there is something very definite about the hand. Personality. It is so full of personality, so closely connected with the individual characteristics of its owner, that those who are wise will realize it requires setting off to advantage just as much as the face and figure, and therefore its special attributes must be studied, and the sleeves and cuffs worn made to harmonize.

Ruffles and Plain Cuffs.
Long, slender hands look their best set off with dainty white ruffles or falling chiffon frills, while hands that are squarely made and of a workmanlike and capable appearance look out of place amid soft lace, and the plain sleeve and turn-back cuff suit them far better.

As to Sleeve Lengths.
There are people who should never on any account wear short or three-quarter length sleeves, and yet how often one notices the entire effect of a gown spoiled by carelessness in this respect.

An Important Item.
Hands are always an interesting study, and it is a pity that in these busy days they are not often accorded the care and attention bestowed on them when our grandmothers were young, and white and shapely hands were considered a very important part of woman's beauty.

Though manicure and constant massage and such like take up more time than the average woman can daily indulge in, she can always see that her hands are suitably befitting, a detail the importance of which, once studied, she will quickly realize.

WORTH KNOWING

To prevent moths, before putting away shades or rugs, sprinkle with cayenne pepper.

When peeling onions hold them under cold water, so that will keep them from smarting the eyes.

In making buttonholes in materials which fray easily it is a great help to stitch twice around on the sewing machine before the hole is cut, as a firmer foundation is secured and no fraying results.

Always leave the teapot or coffee-pot lid open a crack to let the air and prevent mustiness when not in use. A piece of paper slipped in is sufficient to keep it open.

Remember that the yolk of an egg if placed in a cup and covered with a little cold water will keep for a couple of days. The water can easily be poured off when the yolk is used.

To apply hair tonic to the scalp use a medicine dropper as it enables you not only to gauge the amount, but to apply it to the spot desired.

To keep feather dusters in good condition cut the foot off an old stocking and push the duster, handle end first, into the leg, luting the feather end and main in it when not in use. The duster takes up less room, looks neater and keeps cleaner when hung away in such casing.

To keep gloves shapely press small pieces of absorbent cotton into the tips before putting them away. They will be less likely to rip if they receive this care.

To banish moths from carpet put powdered borax around the edge of the carpet and work it into the pile where the heavier (and, therefore, less frequently moved) pieces of furniture stand.

Cooked Radishes.
When radishes are plentiful they are nice to serve as a main dinner vegetable. Boil them till tender in salted water, then drain and reheat in a cream sauce. They are more delicate than turnips, and make a very attractive looking dish.

It Doesn't Follow.
When you see a man's wife sitting the ashes it is not safe to conclude that he is washing the dishes.—Youth's Companion.

ABOUT THE BOYS.

My Dear Girls and Boys:
What on earth has become of all the boys that have written for us all winter? I looked and looked over the long lists of contributors this season and found many boys who had written to me but they had vanished in thin air, just as if a big old giant had come and gobbled them up, so I am writing to ask you where they are, and to tell you that we miss you very much. We miss you and we can't let you stay in that grand vacation of fun without telling us something about it. It is a funny thing, the boys work all winter for the club, and just as soon as summer shows its face around the corner right away all our boys seem to have hidden. I believe it is a swimming hole or fishing place, or maybe just a grand job, so that they can work all summer and make extra money, that's what I think it is, at any rate I want them to know how blank the page seems without them.

THE KING AND HIS SONS.

There was once a king who had three sons. As he was growing old he called his sons to him and said: "My sons, hidden in the depths of the forest is a gem, whose lustre outshines any in all this world. The one of you who brings me this priceless diamond will make my heir, and he shall reign in my place when I am gone." They all started in search of the diamond. The eldest was lazy, and had not come far when he turned back. The second son was shy, so he thought he would watch and see if either of his brothers would find it, and if they did he would try and steal it from them. So he watched and waited, thinking he would be able to make his fortune. The youngest, who loved his father, went off into the woods and searched day by day. One day he came upon an old woman who was dying with hunger. He gave up his search and nursed her back to health. She said to him: "I have nothing to repay you for your kindness, but in the woods I will show you where you will find a beautiful diamond." He went with her and found the stone his father had sent him in search of. So he became the king and lived long and was dearly loved by his people.

Hurt in Runaway.

L. T. Smith, about thirty-five years old, of 117 Semmes Street, was badly hurt yesterday afternoon at 4:29 o'clock, when a mule hitched to a city cart which he was driving became frightened and ran away. At Thirteenth and Stockton streets, Smith was thrown out, and the animal stepped on him. The mule was stopped after running a few blocks.

The city ambulance responded to a call in charge of Dr. H. S. Sterns, and carried the injured man to the Virginia Hospital. Smith may be injured internally, it was said.

Swooned on Streets.

While standing in the corner of Thirteenth and Hull streets yesterday afternoon, L. A. Gibbs, of 718 North Twenty-fifth Street, suddenly swooned and fell to the pavement. He was taken into a Hull Street store, where

The victim would be partially strangled and his face thoroughly wetted.

SEPARATE CONVENTIONS MAY BE HELD IN BRISTOL

Republicans and Progressives Meet To-Day in Bristol to Nominate Candidate for Congress.

Bristol, Va., July 8.—Delegates arrived here to-night from several of the counties of the Ninth Congressional District to participate in the Republican-Progressive convention, scheduled to be held to-morrow. According to the present program, the Republicans and Progressives are to hold separate conventions. This would indicate two separate nominations for Congress.

However, many of the leading men in each party are advocating a joint convention, and the nomination of but one candidate, being convinced that this is the only way in which it would be possible to defeat R. Tate Irvine, the Democratic nominee. Caucuses will be held to-morrow morning, seeking the adoption of a plan to bring the Republicans and Progressives together.

There is a strong sentiment for Representative C. B. Slemm in both parties, although some men prominent in the Progressive party are strenuously opposing the Congressman. Advocates of Slemm declare they will accept no excuse from the Congressmen, but will insist on his nomination in spite of his repeated declarations that he is not a Representative Slemm arrived here to-night. Although being urged to come out for the nomination, he does not, however, over the matter, apparently preferring private life if a satisfactory nomination can be made without his coming in. His friends declare he will accept if nominated, and that he will be the choice of a majority of both Republicans and Progressives.

Among other candidates who have arrived are former State Senator John C. Noel, State Senator John C. Catron and Dr. J. M. Daugherty.
